BOSTON POLICE FORCE ON STRIKE

City At Mercy of Criminal Element and Governor Orders Out State Guard Troops

(By Associated Press)

Boston, Sept. 10.—Bulletin—Lawlessness is rampant here today since the police force struck yesterday evening. There has been no organized power to cope with the situation that last night approached anarchy and today appeared to grow more serious. Last night the city was virtually abandoned to the hoodlum element. Three hundred stores were looted and merchandise valued at $200,000 removed.

Governor Coolidge this afternoon called out the Fourth brigade of State Guards and a machine gun company to report to Mayor Peters forthwith. Threats that the street car, telephone and lighting systems will be tied up if necessary to force a settlement for the police, have been made and the possibilities of the resulting situation are described as appalling by many today. Looting apparently ceased with daylight. Crowds gathered early as if for a holiday and surged through the congested business district. They generally had a spirit of merry-making but there was something ominous in the steady organization of idle and freedom from restraint.

Former Berea Students Disappoints French Girls

(By Associated Press)

Lexington Ky Sept. 10.—Mademoiselle Annie Marie Vizner and Madam Vizner, her mother, of France, arrived in Lexington today. They are looking for the fiancée of Mademoiselle Vizner. He was not at the station when their train came in and the black-eyed Mademoiselle Vizner searched the station for the sight of the only person they knew in "Amerique."

He was not there, and in his place was a young American girl who attempted to explain. The girl spoke no French and the new arrivals spoke but little English, and this substitution coupled with the failure of the fiancée to meet them, made them suspected something was wrong.

Tilford Wagers, of Lexington, was one of the first American soldiers to cross to France. He was there nearly two years, and was wounded and sent back of the lines. While in St. Etienne, he met this pretty mademoiselle, loved her and received her promise to come to Kentucky to marry him as soon as he got home. Meanwhile, Wagers had left Lexington. He is a student at Berea College and is working in the mountains. Before he went to war, he had boarded at the home of Mrs. Jones and when he went into the mountains he still had his mail addressed to his former boarding place.

Knowing that he was expecting the arrival of Mademoiselle Vizner, Mrs. Jones opened the telegram that they would arrive today, and Miss Mae Jones went to the station to meet them and explain.

The French women were greatly excited when Wagers did not appear, but a Lexington business man acted as interpreter and all is now well. Wagers is expected to marry Mlle. Vizner tomorrow.

ELECTRICAL EXPERTS TALK WHITE WAY

The campaign for a White Way in Richmond to accompany and complement the new paved streets and sewerage system was discussed here Tuesday night by the Councilmanic committee and representatives of the Kentucky Utilities Company. Plans were shown for the location of posts or standards, and which the business men and citizens must buy if the White Way is installed. The city proposes to furnish the extra current required, and the Kentucky Utilities Company to do the work.

One of the three representatives here was A. E. Suker, street lighting specialist of the General Electric Company. Mr. Suker is the man who installed electric lights on the Statue of Liberty a few years ago. Others were L. W. McLellen, of the Kentucky Utilities Company, and E. R. Adams, electrical engineer of the General Electric Company. It is estimated that the cost of the iron standards will be about $7,500.

PECULIAR BURGLARY TRAILED IN BEEA

Bloodhounds from Lexington endeavored to trail a man that Mrs. Hal Parsons, of Berea, said came into her bedroom at her home about half past four o'clock Monday morning and demanded her money. The dogs were unable to obtain satisfactory results, however, doing most of their trailing around the house, to the depot and back. Mrs. Parsons, whose husband was away from home during the night, said that she was awakened by a man in her room the early hour. She said that he had a handkerchief over his face and she was unable to recognize him. He told her to give him her money but she said she only had $2.50, whereupon he left. She then ran across the street to the neighbors and spread an alarm. Friends made up the sum of $65 by subscription to pay for the bloodhounds, and Capt. V. G. Mullikin took them over from Lexington. Mr. and Mrs. Parsons live on Depot street in Berea. People from Berea here today, said that there is something peculiar about the whole affair.

LIGHTNING BOLT KILLS YOUNG MAN

Price Conner Loses Life Instantly When Struck By Flash Out of Clear Sky

A bolt of lightning out of a "clear sky" killed Price Conner, young tenant on the farm of Circuit Clerk James W. Wagers, shortly after two o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Conner was in the tobacco field with Henry White when he was struck by lightning and instantly killed. White was knocked unconscious. When he came to himself he staggered to the house, and brought three sisters of Conner, Misses Jessie, Bessie and Ada Conner, who assisted by Mrs. Jesse Cobb, who lives nearby, carried the body of the young man to the home of his father, James Conner on the place. His clothes were burning when his sisters reached his body, and it was evident that he was killed instantly.

There had been no storm before the young man met his untimely end so quickly. The sun was shining at the time. A heavy cloud had passed over, but only a few drops of rain fell, and but one heavy crash of thunder followed the lightning's flash which struck young Conner as he worked in the field. White, his companion, was but a few steps away, in another row. They were cutting the six-acre crop together. White had just placed one stick and Conner had another to put with it. Two young brothers, of the dead man, Mike and Phillip Conner, who were sitting under a tree a short distance away, said that they saw both men topple over and the tobacco knives drop from their hands as they fell. Another younger brother of the dead James Wagers Conner, had been with them a short time before but had left before the tragedy occurred. White was very badly addled by the shock, but is thankful that he too did not suffer the fate of his friend.

Conner was 24 years of age and unmarried. Funeral services will be held at Flatwoods church Wednesday afternoon.

MUNCY BROS. BUY OUT NEALE BENNETT

Important Deal In Richmond Business Means Much To Interests of City

One of the largest business deals in Richmond for a long time was the purchase this week by Muncy Brothers of the entire furniture and undertaking business of W. Neale Bennett & Company. Invoicing will be done the 15th of September, at which time the Messrs. Muncy will move the entire stock to their rooms in the Clay Building. They will make due announcement later as to the opening of their new undertaking department.

The purchase of the Neale Bennett lines will prove a decided addition to the already handsome business which the Messrs. Muncy have built up since coming to Richmond. With this old established business consolidated with their splendid stocks and its good will bringing increased patronage, they will be in an enviable position in their lines in this part of Kentucky. Few houses will be able to equal them and none to excel. Their success already has been phenomenal, and with the Bennett business added, still greater achievements are probable in the near future.

The sale of Mr. Bennett's business follows the purchase of the building on West Main he has occupied a number of years by the Welch Department Stores, of Berea, soon to come here with attractive lines. Mr. Bennett turns over his entire furniture and undertaking line, including motor hearse, ambulance, cabs, etc. It is understood that Mr. W. E. Richards, undertaker and embalmer for Mr. Bennett, will join the staff of Muncy Bros., adding much strength to their organization.

The Messrs. Muncy are being congratulated on all sides upon their deal, which is a most important step in Richmond's commercial progress and enlargement.

Mrs. Fetter's Guards Acquitted

Ashland, Ky. Sept. 10.—Claybourne Hughes and Albert Darby, who shot and killed Charles Hammond while acting as guards at the S. P. Fetter residence, following the receipt of a black-mail letter which came to Mrs. Fetter on the evening of August 16, were acquitted.

The letter stated that unless Mrs. Fetter placed $10,000 on a certain street corner in Ashland, stating the date and hour that it should be placed there, her home would be blown from its foundation and her son, John C. Mayo, and daughter, Margaret Mayo, would be maimed for life. Hammond's appearance on the lawn at 2 o'clock in the morning caused the guards to fire on him when he refused to obey the order to halt. Mrs. Fetter is the widow of John C. Mayo, multimillionaire of the Big Sandy Valley.

"WAR OR PEACE" SAYS THE PRESIDENT

(By Associated Press)

TREATY IS FINALLY REPORTED TO SENATE

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Sept. 10.—Characterizing it as an alliance and not a league, which will breed wars, instead of peace, the peace treaty including the covenant of the League of Nations was formally reported to the Senate today by the Senate Foreign Relations committee with 45 amendments and four reservations. Accompanying the treaty was a majority report of the Foreign Relations committee subscribed to by every Republican member except Senator McCumber, explaining the amendments and reservations all of which, it is declared, are governed by a single purpose to safeguard American sovereignty and rights, "the invasion of which would stimulate breaches of faith, encourage conflict and general wars."

The reservations propose an unconditional right to withdraw from the League, declaration to assume any obligations in Article 10 except by action of Congress, reserving to the United States the exclusive right to decide what questions are within its own domestic jurisdiction, absolute reservation of the Monroe Doctrine to judgment of the United States.

One of the principal amendments provides equal voting power for the United States with Great Britain in the assembly of the League, giving Shantung to China, instead of to Japan and no representation by the United States on commissions deciding matters in which it has no concern.

PLAN MONASTERY IN EAST KENTUCKY

E. A. Waters, of the Big Four railroad Cincinnati paid Hon. J. A. Sullivan a visit here last week, to consult with him concerning the location of a Catholic monastery in the mountains of eastern Kentucky, to be founded by Baltimore capitalists who have spent many million dollars in the improvement and development of the Eastern Kentucky mountains. Mr. Sullivan says that the monastery should not be simply religious, but should be the head and center of schools or colleges in agriculture, carpentry, forestry coal and oil mining and other practical pursuits, as well as all sciences and languages, ancient and modern. He also says that the monks should be able to talk English well and prefers them to come from the following nations and in this order: Ireland, Scotland, Wales, England, France, Belgium, or Italy and many native born Americans should head many of the departments. The purpose of the monastery will be not simply religion but education in many practical pursuits and in many sciences intended to prepare all people of all religions.

PRISONERS SAW OUT OF COUNTY JAIL

James Bennett and James Mockabee Make Easy Getaway, After Early Morning Break

James Bennett and James Mockabee, two young white men, sawed their way to freedom from the Madison county jail early Wednesday morning. They broke out a bar from the cell room, which they had evidently been sawing on for sometime, and then smashed off a window the heavy iron screen. The nails easily came out of the half-rotten woodwork, and a short leap of about 10 feet put the men on the ground. They made a quick getaway up Irvine street.

Several men, who were on First street about half past five o'clock saw the men make their escape, but before the alarm could be given, the two prisoners had disappeared. Jailer Wm. Burgess telephoned to Lexington for Capt. V. G. Mullikin's bloodhounds. They took the trail at the jail but persisted in going out Second street, whereas all who saw the two jailbirds escape, are positive that they continued on out Irvine street. The dogs were taken every way possible, however, and finally the trailing was given up without result. Capt. Mullikin says he thinks the men must have put something on their shoes to disguise their scent.

Bennett was confined in jail awaiting trial on a charge of stealing some whisky from the distillery at Silver Creek. Mockabee is the young man, claiming to be a returned soldier, who terrorized the faculty and many students of Berea College with a pistol a few weeks ago. He was also awaiting action of the October grand jury. He is considered a pretty "slick article." Jailer Burgess says that the men evidently soaped the bar they sawed for it is evident that they must have been working on it for some time. There were several other prisoners in the jail at the time the two men got away, but none in the portion which they occupied.

It was thought by many, the men went out the old L. & A. railroad, where they caught the early morning L. & A., at some station, which they could easily have done, undetected, as a general alarm was not given for them in time to keep them from getting well on their way.

Mockabee Captured

Mockabee was captured about two o'clock in the afternoon by Sheriff Pete Whitlock. He was found under a hedge fence on the farm of Mrs. Ellen Gibson, on the Lancaster pike, at the edge of town. He had appeared there about noon and asked for a drink of water. Jerry Chambers saw him, and having heard of the escape from jail, phoned to town Sheriff Whitlock immediately jumped into his car and went out. When he came upon Mockabee the latter thrust his hand into his shirt as if to pull a gun, but the Sheriff had his own gat out and was taking no chances, so seeing he couldn't bluff the officer, he quietly surrendered.

Sheriff Whitlock had Turnkey Lige Howard searched Mockabee, but Howard found nothing on him. Then the prisoner remarked:

"Just to show you that I'm square, I'll give you this," and he ran his hand in the lining of his trousers and pulled out a small, fine toothed saw, and turned it over to the officers. He said that Bennett had left him some time ago. It is thought that he may have started toward his home at Silver Creek.

Mockabee was locked up in the solitary cell at the jail.

The ancient room in the Parliament buildings where Oliver Cromwell signed the death of Charles the First is now used by members of the House of Commons in which to store their discarded old hats.

AN OPPORTUNITY TO TRAIN FOR SOCIAL WORK

Young men and women of Kentucky, this year for the first time in the history of the state, will have an opportunity for special training in the new profession of social work, through the course of Applied Sociology just established in the University of Louisville, and scheduled to open Wednesday, September 10.

The demand for trained workers in Red Cross Home Service work, public health nursing, playground work, community recreation, probation and Associated Charities work far exceeds the supply. Not only would young Kentucky people, trained in this school, have positions open to them in this state, but other states, particularly through out the South, will look to this new training course for paid workers; for this is the only training course for social workers south of Ohio and west of the Alleghenies, excepting a small school at Dallas, Texas.

This training course will be a real Kentucky course, not a formal schedule brought in from outside. It will include training in Kentucky's rural problems and in the organization of small communities, with actual practice work in the country districts and small towns; as well as training in all other branches of social work. The head of the course, Dr. N. J. Ware, has wide teaching and social experience (and, incidentally, was a lieutenant in the famous Canadian regiment, the Princess Pats, during the world war); and he will be assisted by lecturers experienced in all of Kentucky's welfare problems.

Students, who have graduated from high school, may take the full four-year course in the University of Louisville, graduating with the degree of Bachelor of Social Science. On the other hand, people who do not want this degree, may take the special courses in various kinds of social training and receive certificates of the ground they have covered.

More than that, the Kentucky Conference of Social Work, which has a working relationship to this training course, will conduct a registry of positions open in social service throughout the state, so that students who have secured special training may go into suitable work with the least possible loss of time and expenses. Social service positions at from $75 to $125 a month and over are going begging because of lack of people to fill them; students taking this course would be in line for them.

Young people interested in going into social work in a professional way and wanting additional training are invited to correspond with Dr. John L. Patterson, dean, University of Louisville, 119 West Broadway, Louisville, Ky.

Agricultural College To Put Out 750,000 Baby Chicks

The Agricultural College, University of Kentucky, has announced that poultry standardization is well under way over Kentucky under its auspices. Next year 750,000 pure-bred chicks will be distributed. Four hundred and sixty-one thousand eggs recommended for hatching have been placed over the state this year. Over 600 flocks have been culled of "slacker" hens. The campaign will continue until the middle of October. The value of poultry products in Kentucky is estimated by the college at over $18,000,000, and it is expected that the value will be doubled within the next few years.

BLUE GRASS CATTLE FEEDERS OPPOSE BILL

To Take Refrigerator Cars Away
From Packers and Put Government Official In Charge

Washington, Sept. 9.—The South apparently is at the threshold of the greatest era of prosperity in its history. Development of the livestock industry, in which the big packing companies of America are pointing the way, rapidly is leading to a vast increase in the wealth of the country below the Mason-Dixon line and indications are that within the next few years the Southern states, instead of existing on "starvation" cotton will be reaping fat and continuous profits from the sale of live stock and meat products.

These facts have been developed at the hearings by the Senate Agricultural Committee on the Kenyon, Kendrick and other bills to regulate and license the meat packing industry of the United States. Witnesses from all parts of the South have appeared before the committee and entered vigorous protests against the proposed legislation on the ground that if the business of the packing companies—especially the so-called "Big Five"; Swift, Armour, Morris, Wilson and Cudahy—was disrupted, the growth of the South and its new-found source of wealth would be smothered.

The bills under consideration by the committee—based on a misleading and inaccurate report about the packing industry issued by the Federal Trade Commission—would take the packers' refrigerator cars away from them, prevent them from owning stockyards, prohibit them from dealing in anything else except meat products and put the entire business under a license system, the head of which would be a government official with arbitrary powers and appointed, probably, for political reasons.

Farmers from all over the United States have appeared before the committee in opposition to the bills on the ground that if enacted, in to law they would tend to ruin their business. Witnesses from this South—especially those from Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Louisiana, Kentucky and Texas—told of the development of the livestock industry in their states and the encouragement and help given them by the big packing companies and declared that if the packers were to be hobbled by unwarranted government interference, the producers of the South would be among the heaviest sufferers.

Objectors to the proposed legislation from Kentucky were headed by Henry L. Prewitt, an attorney of Mount Sterling. With him before the committee were Warren Rogers, a farmer of Bourbon county; Lem Tipton, a farmer of Montgomery county; Walter Sharp, a farmer of Bath county and John Duvall, a farmer of Clark county.

"We are against this legislation," said Mr. Prewitt, "We depend absolutely upon the packers to purchase our cattle in Kentucky. I live on a farm and I know what I am talking about."

"The packers have always always treated us fairly. They come to our farm and buy from us. We have no complaint whatsoever to make about the purchasing of our cattle. The big fellows compete with one another and they have Kentuckians as their agents and they always deal with us fairly, openly and honestly. We think it unwise to disturb the excellent system the packers have built up and are strongly opposed to centralizing control of the foodstuffs of America in the hands of one man—a government official. During the war it was right; but now we want to get just as far away from Washington and the politicians as we possibly can.

"The case for our country is this: We have from 25,000 to 40,000 cattle. In the summertime we finish them on the blue grass and have to sell them. Somebody has to take them off our hands, because we cannot eat them and cannot get them to the consumers. The packer is the only person who can do it properly. If the packer is going to be destroyed, somebody will have to take his place.

"My opinion is that the packer should be considered a great blessing, instead of being condemned. Look what he does with chickens and eggs. He gathers them in time of plenty and keeps them in storage until times of scarcity. Thus, he maintains a reasonable price at all times. You gentlemen considering these things should realize that you can't legislate to make a hen lay an egg. That's what would be necessary if the packers were put out of business.

CONDUCTS INSTITUTE IN ALLEN COUNTY

Professor G. D. Smith conducted the institute at Scottsville, in Allen county, last week. According to reports received from teachers down there, they were highly pleased with their instructor. Miss Lillian Smith had charge of the music, Misses Gladys and Georgia Smith assisted in giving a concert one evening during the week. The program was very pleasing, and was highly appreciated by a crowded house.

Meets Brothers For First Time

Rev. H. S. Early, the converted Catholic, formerly of Olney, Ill., but now living in Ohio, is making a tour of this section of the state and is in Richmond this week. He has been solicited to give his lectures in several of the country churches, and will visit among the pastors of this city, and make arrangements for a lecture here before leaving. Rev. Early had quite a delightful experience in West Virginia last week when he visited St. Mary's, and met two of his brothers he had never seen, his mother and father having died when he was in his infancy, and the children had been scattered from the home ties.

CHAMP CLARK SAYS GET BUSY

Tells Congress People Are Tired of Its Fooling and Want
Living Costs Reduced

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—"Every profiteer in America ought to be put in the penitentiary," former Speaker Champ Clark declared on the floor of the house of Representatives in a recent debate. At the same time, the Democratic floor leaders warned the Republicans that unless they quit wasting so much time speechmaking, get down to business and do something to cut down the high cost of living and give the people some relief from profiteers, there wouldn't be enough of them left in the next Congress to "demand the ayes and noes."

Former Speaker Clark's reprimand of the Republican majority for frittering away so much time came during debate on a bill brought in by the Ways and Means Committee to raise the tariff on tungsten ore far in excess of that fixed by the old Payne-Aldrich law. Mr. Clark said that there should be some protection given such articles as tungsten and other commodities developed during the war, but that the "pending bill is protecting run mad."

After hours had been consumed in debate and the House had gotten nowhere, Mr. Clark obtained the floor to express his opinion of the way the House was proceeding.

"This is in some features a very futile debate," he declared. "I feel that I really ought to apologize to the House for having taken any time on it myself. We have certain things that should be done in this Congress. We ought to do what we can to cut down the high cost of living."

Representative Knutson, of Minnesota, Republican whip, interrupted to remark that "this is all poppycock."

"Maybe it is" retorted Mr. Clark, "but I will tell you what kind of poppycock it is. It will put all of you fellows out if you do not attend to it. That is true, just as certain as you are alive."

"The gentleman is speaking from experience?" asked Mr. Knutson.

"No, I am showing you what will happen to you," replied the Democratic leader. "There will not be enough of you in the next Congress to demand the ayes and noes unless you cut down the high cost of living and relieve millions of men, women and children from starvation. I think we ought to go to work and leave out the speechmaking and do what we can to relieve the distresses of the people of the United States. It is bootless to indulge in criminality and recrimination about it. Everybody knows that there is more than one element in the expansion of the currency. There is no sense in anybody lying about it. Another element is these trusts that have fixed the prices of every thing. Still another is the profiteers, and I have stated it over again several times that every profiteer in America ought to be put in the penitentiary. I am in favor of quitting these extraneous debates and getting down to the work we are sent here to do."

The Democratic leader also found occasion to reply to the old campaign charge repeated by Representative Fordney, Republican, of Michigan, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee which, in substance, was that whenever the Republicans are in power there is prosperity and whenever the Democrats are in control of the Government the reverse is true.

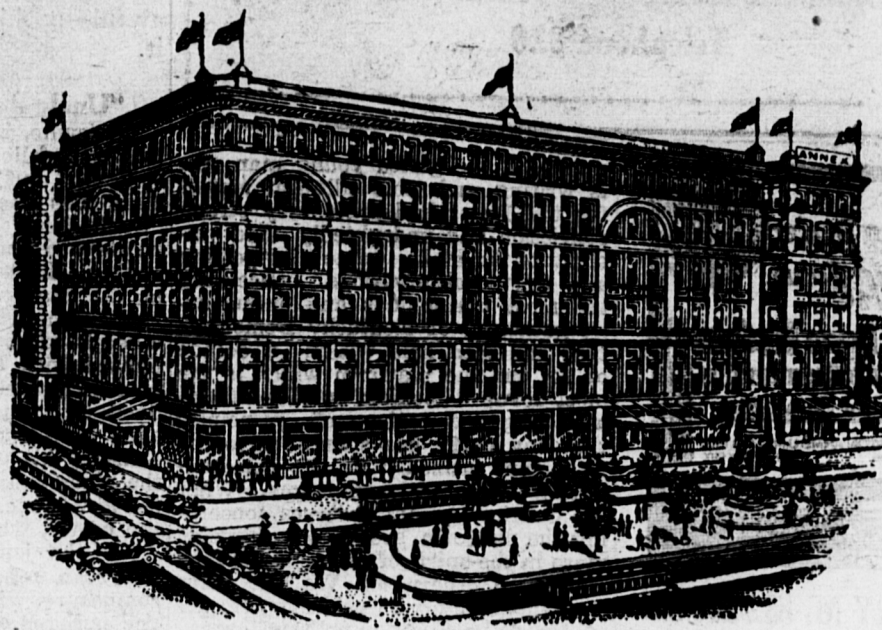

"Is not that true," Representative Knutson, the Republican whip, asked. "No sir, it is not; not a syllable of it is true," former Speaker Clark answered. "If you can remember when 1873; General Grant was President. There were hardly enough Democrats in the House to call the yeas and nays. The Senate was overwhelmingly Republican; the Republicans had the Government for years and years, and a panic swept over this country which made men's teeth rattle from sea to sea and carried bankruptcy, but—"

"Was it not due to the war?" asked Mr. Layton, Republican, of Delaware. "No, it was not due to the war," said the Democratic leader. "I will give you a sample and let you see if it was due to the war. In 1907 Theodore Roosevelt was President. You had both houses of Congress. You had had them for years, and there came a panic in September, October and November of 1907 that as high a Republican authority as Senator Aldrich said was the severest panic that this country had ever known. No war produced that."

Little Things.

If we suffer little things to have great hold upon us, we shall be as much transported for them as if they deserved it.—William Penn.

REPUBLICANS BACK UP ON MONDELL BILL

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—Party discussion is the latest development in the Republican Congress which has been stagnated by inefficiency and lack of constructive leadership ever since the G. O. P. came into control of the legislative branch of the government.

The split occurred at a Republican House caucus this week. Meeting behind closed doors, the Republicans berated each other for their failure to stand together on what they were pleased to term "party question" and then turned their guns on the Mondell soldier land bill of which the Republican floor leader is the sponsor.

From the viewpoint of the country's fighting forces in the recent war, the opposition to the Mondell bill is the most important. The determination of a large majority of the Republican House membership not to accept this measure in the form in which it has been framed merely echoes the sentiment previously expressed by Democratic leaders.

Representative Ferris of Oklahoma, the former Democratic chairman of the Committee on Public Lands, has repeatedly warned the Republicans that the soldiers were not satisfied with the bill which seeks to parcel among them only undeveloped arid and swamp lands of the west and south.

Evidently Mr. Ferris' demand that the provisions of the bill be broadened has had its effect on the Republicans, because at their party caucus they literally made a football of their floor leader's pet measure. Only an ardent plea by Mr. Mondell not to put the House majority in the hole prevented a straightout repudiation of his proposal.

"From a party standpoint," he said, "it would be most unfortunate to have the word go forth to the country that the Republicans in Congress had decided to postpone, at least for the present, any further action on the only bill that has been introduced in this session in behalf of the discharged soldiers of the army."

With usual Republican inaccuracy, Mr. Mondell failed to state the whole truth. What he should have said was that the land bill is the only soldier measure the Republicans have permitted to see the light of day. Many bills beneficial to the soldiers have been offered by Democrats, but because Democrats proposed them they have been pigeon holed in committee.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon, whose partisanship is mellowing with age, and Representative Charles Nichols, of Detroit, who is more of an independent than he is a Republican, were the moving spirits against the Mondell bill in the Republican conference. "Uncle Joe" ridiculed the idea that a soldier bill should be made a party measure, while Mr. Nichols indicated rather plainly that the Mondell bill is a joke in its present form and insisted that further consideration of it should be deferred until the discharged soldiers themselves had an opportunity to give voice to their desires in the forthcoming meeting of the American League at Minneapolis.

The editor of the Louisville Times occupied a "ringside" seat at the recent Democratic State convention. He undoubtedly heard all the speeches witnessed the great enthusiasm and listened carefully to the reading of the platform Thursday night. Not until Monday, however, did his very interesting column have a line about the convention. Then it only used what the Courier-Journal had printed the morning before. And yet we feel sure that the gifted young man who is writing such able editorial matter for the Times had some very strong conviction and undoubtedly had inclination to make some interesting and timely observations concerning the most harmonious and enthusiastic gathering of Kentucky Democrats that has been held within a decade or so, and the platform which is the most forward looking, intelligent and appealing declaration of principles that any party has submitted to the intelligent citizenry of the commonwealth in many campaigns. What the Courier-Journal observes concerning the platform, seems to be directed more in the spirit of antagonistic criticism than otherwise. We all know that Judge Bingham's newspapers are no longer partisan or political organs and we know that he hopes to see men in charge of public affairs, who will render the best service to the people. He is the soul of honor and wholly independent of parties and politics. Many of us had hoped, however, that he and his papers would recognize the outstanding merits of the Democratic platform, and the general excellence of the Democratic ticket, and would say so in no hesitating or half-hearted fashion. No party platform probably ever crystallized the ideas of any one man, especially one who is an idealist, more or less, on matters of politics and party government. The Times and Courier-Journal are so darned independent nowadays of men and politicians, in their owner's desires and efforts to further the cause of the people and the best interests of the taxpayers, that right at this time, when a magnificent opportunity is before them of doing a real service, by vigorously espousing the Democratic cause in the state, if they're not careful in their attitude of independence, they'll lean a little backward.

Boyle county is to apply three miles of tarvia to test it out, and the Advocate claims that Boyle is the first county in this section to try it. Madison has had tarvia on two miles of each pike out Richmond for a few months. Some of the farmers think it makes the road too slick on horses. This may be so on the hillsides but so far as the level tracts it has made a mighty fine roadway. The only really good road from here to Lexington is the tarvia section in Madison and the asphalt in Fayette. The remainder of the road is simply awful—nothing else will describe it.

"Uncle John" Rides In Air

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 10.—"It sure makes a fellow feel like he is intoxicated, but it's all right, at that," That was the cryptic expression of "Uncle John" Schell, 131 years old, as he stepped upon the ground again following a fifteen-minute airplane flight at the State Fair this afternoon. Uncle John traveled several miles at a height of about 400 feet. He was delighted with the experience, and expressed himself as grateful that he had lived long enough to enjoy it. The aged man was helped into the machine by his pilot, M. E. Headley. As the plane skimmed along, getting into the air, Uncle John waved his hand at the crowd, which cheered him wildly. After the journey he tottered a bit, but soon regained his equilibrium composure. Thus it was that a new and perhaps crowning experience was crowded into the life of the oldest man in the world.

Some Sound Advice Here

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 10.—Abolishment of strikes, save those absolutely necessary, was recommended by Secretary Treasurer P. J. Campbell, Louisville, at a meeting of the Kentucky Federation of Labor. The recommendation was made so as to give President Wilson time to adjust living costs and industrial unrests. Campbell also recommended the organization go on record as disapproving a national labor political party.

School Head Exonerated

Harris, of the Winchester city schools, was exonerated Saturday following a four-hour hearing of evidence on a charge of immorality against the Superintendent. All members of the board except one signed the verdict. Mrs. Lizzie Simmons, a niece of Superintendent Harris, was the chief witness for prosecution.

SPEEDWELL

The continued dry weather is being felt by this section. Crops are suffering and water is getting very scarce.

The revival service at the Baptist church closed Wednesday night. The weather was ideal and the time was opportune. It being an idle time with the farmers consequently large crowds attended and all enjoyed and old time gospel as it was so forcibly and eloquently presented by Rev. Brandenburg. There were 3 additions, two of whom were for baptism.

There will be services at the Christian church Sunday and Sunday night by Rev. Mastus, the pastor.

Miss Emma Hendren is spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hendren.

A party composed of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harris, Mrs. J. M. Hendren, Luther Todd and family, and H. D. Rayburn and family motored to Lexington Thursday to attend the Blue Grass Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Burke passed through our town Tuesday, enroute to their home in Winchester.

Lieut. Kincaid is at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kincaid, on a thirty days furlough. He saw quite a lot of over sea service and was wounded. He has enlisted for three years more in the regular army.

Charley Tipton and family, of Union, were in our town Wednesday attending the revival service at the Baptist church.

WHITE HALL

Mr. Madison Burgin and Mrs. Sallie Langford have returned from their month's visit to Missouri and Kansas.

Bethel Winkler and Miss Nancy McQueen surprised their many friends by going to Richmond last Wednesday and getting married. We wish for them a bright future.

We are very sorry to know that Mr. Gordon Burgin is quite sick with typhoid fever. We hope that he may soon be better.

Mt. Pleasant church is having a new coat of paint put on the wood-work on the out side which will add greatly to the appearance of the church when completed.

Mt. Pleasant had the pleasure of having the Sunday School Convention to meet with that congregation last Thursday. All that were present enjoyed the program very much. A bountiful noonday lunch was served and all went away feeling that it was good for them to have been there.

Miss Margaret Douglas is planning to have an entertainment at her school at Science Hill in the near future and also a pie supper at the close of the program. The money will be used for repairing of the building. We hope it will be a success.

Mrs. Ida Parke has been in Richmond for the past two weeks with friends.

Congressman King Swope has just gotten jobs at Washington for George Hopper, of Danville and Vacilius Chebithe, of Somerset. And his first bill was to erect a government building at Harrodsburg. Hardly anything of retrenchment and reform, in these HCL times in the program of the young congressman so far as yet noticed.

DROUGHT HAS DONE BIG DAMAGE TO ALL CROPS

The most discouraging reports of crop conditions since he became Commissioner of Agriculture were received during last month, is the statement made by Commissioner of Agriculture Cohen in his monthly report.

The drought has been general and the damage done to every crop is almost beyond estimate. Corn, however, made an improvement in August and the general condition shows at 85 per cent, which is better than last month's report indicated. The corn yield per acre as estimated under present conditions will be 23 bushels as a state average, which would give something over 77,000,000 bushels production from the state this year. By sections the average yield runs from 16 to 32 bushels, according to the locality which has had the most seasonable weather conditions.

Condition of burley tobacco is given at 70 per cent, which is not so good as last month's report, and dark tobacco is given at 77 per cent. The tobacco crop is very uneven and the outlook is discouraging. Much tobacco is being cut early, owing to the extreme dry conditions prevailing.

Less than 42 per cent acreage of hemp is given, while condition is 78 per cent. This will mean an exceptionally small output.

Acreage for cow peas is 76 cent of the normal crop, and the condition is 79 per cent. The reasons given for so small an acreage are the extreme dry weather and high cost of seed. The soy bean acreage is 84 per cent and the condition 81 per cent.

Buckwheat acreage is reported at 50 per cent short. The July seeding is to date.

Alfalfa condition is given at 74 per cent.

Colored Girl Kills Herself Rather Than Go To School

"I will kill myself before I will go back to school," Mary Anne Frye, 20-year-old daughter of Green Frye, colored, of Hustonville, Lincoln county, told some of her friends Sunday. That night she left her mother and going to her room shot herself twice in the stomach, dying before medical aid arrived. She used her father's pistol. It is not known where she procured the cartridges, as the pistol had not been loaded for years.

Look at the Essex

Do as 10,000 Owners are Doing. Compare its Qualities With Large Costly Machines, the Only Type by Which Essex Performance Can Be Compared

From this Viewpoint

We ask you to ride in the Essex that you may know how it matches the performance of costlier, larger cars.

Until you have experienced its performance you will not know that it is an unusual car.

Its size and cost naturally leads you to regard it as you do other cars of similar size.

But 10,000 owners and other hundreds of thousands of motorists know that except for its price, its size and economy of its operating cost, the Essex bears no relation to even cars of the better quality light weight medium priced class.

Choose the Essex for Performance

Any Essex owner will tell you the most inspiring thing about acceleration and speed.

We have any customers who tell us they prefer driving the Essex to any car they have ever known.

Its ease of operation, the power which eliminates much gear shifting, the speed that puts the Essex in the lead of any car they wish to pass, are qualities that account for much you hear among motorists.

Endurance too, Is Now Evident

Remember the Essex has seen hard service. Its performance range is so large, owners use their cars on trips heretofore undertaken only by larger cars. The Essex has shown it has no narrow limitations. It is safe to use for any trip you would undertake with any automobile.

It meets every service and Essex owners tell their friends how little attention they are required to give their cars

Let Those Qualities

Decide You

Regard the Essex in the service you expect from it, as you would any car regardless of size or cost.

If the Essex were as large as the cars whose performance it matches, the price would have to be as high.

But because it has no useless length or useless weight, costly car quality in every detail, is possible with proportionate saving in cost.

Let us show you the Essex in the way that reveals its true qualities.

There is a five-passenger touring model, a sedan for five and the roadster.

Each is as beautiful and completely done as any car you could want. Think how people endorse the Essex. The sole reason for their enthusiasm is Essex quality.

Add your personal experience to what everyone is saying for the Essex.
